Picture This! And This Little Bare Wire Goes in Here

Making do with what you have is good advice in many situations, but in the world of workplace safety, making do often translates into taking unsafe shortcuts. Here we have a situation where someone has shoved bare electrical wires into an electrical outlet and then taped the makeshift wiring to hold it in place. Hopefully necessity won't become the mother of electrocution. (WorkSafeVictoria, Australia)