Confined Spaces Compliance

How to Comply with Confined Spaces Safety Training Requirements

Work in confined spaces is extremely hazardous. Dozens of workers are killed or seriously injured in confined spaces each year. Almost all of these injuries could have been prevented if the victim had received proper safety training. So it's no wonder that confined spaces safety training is a specific requirement of occupational health and safety laws. Here's an overview of training requirements.

Who Must Receive Training

You must provide confined spaces safety training to any worker who:

- Enters and works within a confined space;
- Is responsible for carrying out emergency response or rescue operations within a confined space;
- Oversees or serves as an attending worker for a confined space entry; and
