

Medical Networks and Panels

Around the Nation

Our goal is to provide injured employees access to quality medical care while avoiding unnecessary, risky treatment. Benefit from optimal employee recovery and lower claim costs with Medical Networks. All states have unique rules and regulations governing medical control and may require injured workers to receive medical treatment from providers within a specific network or panel. Some states may allow an injured worker to direct their own care.

California – Medical Provider Network (MPN)

For California, employee notification can be provided at the time of injury. BHHC will send the MPN notices to the injured employee when a claim is reported. MPN posting notices are no longer required. The BHHC MPN (0145) includes selected Anthem Blue Cross of California physicians and facilities, as well as Kaiser-On-The-Job® locations. Our goal is to provide your injured employees with access to excellent medical care while avoiding unnecessary, risky treatment. The MPN requires that all treatment associated with a work-related injury or illness be within this MPN for the life of the claim.

Texas – Health Care Network (HCN)

BHHC has contracted with Prime Health Services to participate in their state-approved medical network. Employers will be required to utilize this network for policies that renewed or bound on or after January 1, 2022.

New Jersey – Managed Care Organization (MCO)

New Jersey Managed Care Organization: BHHC has contracted with Horizon Casualty Services to participate in their state-approved medical network. Employers will be required to utilize this network for policies that renewed or bound on or after May 1, 2020.

Georgia, Pennsylvania – Panel

For the Georgia (GA) and Pennsylvania (PA) panels to be valid, the employer is required to post the panel prior to any injury occurring. The panels for these states are mailed to the policyholder at the time the policy is bound.

Tennessee, Virginia, and Colorado – Panel

For Tennessee (TN), Virginia (VA), and Colorado (CO), the employer is NOT required to post the panel prior to any injury occurring in order for the panel to be valid. For these states, the employer presents the panel to their employee post-injury for them to choose a physician and sign the panel. The panels for these states are mailed to the policyholder at time the policy is bound.
